

A Bridal Tea for Your Bridesmaids Luncheon

Contributed by Kimberly Bean

Are you the Maid of Honor trying to plan the bridal shower for your bride? Or better yet - a Bride looking for a fun idea for a bridesmaid luncheon? Consider a bridal tea. Make it a fun day and invite guests to wear elegant gloves and fancy hats for the occasion. Depending on the number of guests, purchase a few teapots. They don't have to match - in fact, we think if they mismatch its even better. Look in local thrift stores for mismatched tea cups and saucers to save some money and add to the variety. Often times nice ones are donated because there isn't a full set. You can always let guests take home the set as a gift.

For favors, consider giving guests cute heart-shaped tea infusers like the ones we found at My Wedding Favors. $2.75 each (get a discount with bigger quantities), plus they have personalized favor tags available as well.

They also have these adorable teacup and tealight favor sets. $2.93 each. (discounts on bigger quantities too). They have personalized favor tags for these as well.
